The Full Block and the Quarter Block seem a little busy, so we're trying a simple sawtooth border today. Look at the difference changing colors make in this design. Like any of them? Let us know...use the app or email projects@quilterstthread.com

Here are the first two suggestions for finishing the quilt. Each comes from the same concept: using the quilt block to create pieced borders. The Full Block version looks pretty busy to me, what are your thoughts?

PS. More possibilities tomorrow.....

Here's the project: This quilt center was constructed as a "Mystery Quilt." It is 48"x60." The quilt needs to grow 40" in length and width. Pieced border(s) come to mind...but you may have other ideas. Send them to us through the app or at projects@quilterstthread.com. We'll draw them up and share them. Your input will determine how we finish the quilt. By the way, we'll share a gift card with anyone who provides an idea the group decides to use.
